About Graven

An innovative Ottawa-born folk-rock singer/songwriter with a key focus on cultivating joy and wonder in Canadian geography, Matty (Graven) is a wordsmith of song whose passion is to create a highly accepting and inclusive community of music lovers. Graven has shared stages and opened for acts such as Jim Bryson, Sloan, The Killjoys, Steve Poltz, Danny Michel, Sarah Harmer, Elliott Brood, Kathryn Calder (New Pornographers), Great Lake Swimmers, Melissa Payne, Stephen Stanley and Ron Hawkins (Lowest of the Low) and many more. Matty is currently preparing the 2025 touring season throughout Southern and Eastern Ontario, Southwestern Quebec, the Maritimes, the Golden Horseshoe, and growing his dedicated fan base on Instagram, Facebook and Twitter.

Quotes

"Matty McKechnie plays out under the name Graven and when I say 'plays out', that's not an understatement. It seems to me he's touring all the time."

- Craig Norris, In The Key of C, CBC Radio 1 (November 2024)
